MICHIGAN'S COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS ACT

In 1988, State lawmakers enacted Public Act 511 (PA511) which is also referred to as the Michigan Community Corrections Act. The purpose of PA511 was to divert non-violent felons from prison by providing local units of government with funding to develop local sentencing options in lieu of prison. As a result, new commitments to prison declined from 34.7% in 1989, to 18.8% in 2024(13.9% in Oakland County).

During these years research was also being conducted in the field regarding what types of programming were most effective in harm reduction. It became evident that diverting offenders without addressing the underlying behaviors which lead them into the criminal justice system was ineffective in reducing recidivism. In 2014, several amendments to PA511 were passed to address these concerns. These revisions included the following:

- Moving Community Corrections programming from being solely diversionary to focusing on rehabilitation and recidivism reduction.
- Requiring Community Corrections programs to employ evidenced based principles / practices.
- Targeting of offenders based on risk rather than sentencing guideline score.
- Using key performance measures, as defined by the State Board, to determine program efficacy.

The Oakland County Community Corrections Advisory Board (OCCCAB) has been receiving funding under the Community Corrections Act for it's Comprehensive Plan since 1994. Since that time, the OCCCAB has developed strong collaboration and cooperation from all components of the criminal justice system in Oakland County. The plan is updated each year in order to review the effectiveness of existing programs, as well as to create new programs as needed. The Oakland County Pretrial & Justice Services Division provides a wide array of programming options which employ both legal and evidence based principles.

The following program descriptions are intended to be informational. If you have any questions about the programs in this brochure, or you have any questions regarding Pretrial & Justice Services in general, please contact Eric Schmidt, Manager, at 248.451.2310.

EVIDENCE BASED PRINCIPLES FOR EFFECTIVE INTERVENTION

1. Assess Actuarial Risk/Needs
2. Enhance Intrinsic Motivation
3. Target Interventions

a. Risk Principle – Prioritize supervision and treatment resources for higher risk offenders.

b. Need Principle – Target interventions to criminogenic needs.

c. Responsivity Principle – Be responsive to temperament, learning style, motivation, culture, and gender when assigning programs.

d. Dosage – Structure 40-70% of high-risk offenders' time for 3-9 months.

e. Treatment – Integrate treatment into the full sentence/sanction requirements.

4. Skill Train with Directed Practice
(uses Cognitive Behavioral treatment methods)

5. Increase Positive Reinforcement
6. Engage Ongoing Support in Natural Communities
7. Measure Relevant Processes/Practices
8. Provide Measurement Feedback

For additional discussion on EBP please see Implementing Evidence-Based Practice in Community Corrections: The Principles of Effective Intervention available at https://nicic.gov/implementing-evidence-based-practice-community-corrections-principles-effective-intervention.

PRETRIAL SERVICES UNIT - ASSESSMENT

PRETRIAL
MISDEMEANOR

The Pretrial Services Unit (PSU) within the Oakland County Pretrial & Justice Services Division was established in 1987 with the primary mission of screening the adult pretrial arrestee population for release suitability in accordance with MCR 6.106. PSU uses the Praxis, a pretrial assessment tool, which scores factors that research has shown to be predictive of pretrial misconduct; either failure to appear or re-arrest. The risk score is used to develop a bail recommendation aimed at mitigating the risk of fail to appear (FTA) or rearrest. It is the goal of the unit to maximize the number of individuals that can be safety released into the community while detaining those who pose a risk to public safety.

In addition to an interview with the arrestee prior to their initial court appearance, computerized record checks including District and Circuit Court records, Probate records, Secretary of State, and LEIN are accessed to determine prior convictions and FTAs. Information obtained during the interview is verified, when possible, for accuracy. Contact with references, family members, schools, employers, probation / parole agents, and others are pursued by the investigators, which culminates in a bail recommendation.

If an individual is at risk for pretrial misconduct, conditions of release may be recommended and ordered by the court. An individual may also be required to report to the Pretrial Services Supervision Unit (see Pretrial Services Supervision) to ensure compliance with those conditions.

Eligibility

- Most in custody arrestees charged with a felony or misdemeanor offense.

Cost

- There is no cost for the Pretrial Services assessment.

PRETRIAL SERVICES SUPERVISION UNIT

PRETRIAL
MISDEMEANORS

The Pretrial Services Supervision Unit (PSSU) offers supervision of released pretrial individuals to ensure compliance with conditions of release imposed by the judicial officer, while providing supports and services (along with court date reminders) to promote the success of those we serve. Individuals are required to report on an automated telephone reporting system, on a regular basis as directed. Progress and compliance with conditions of release are continually evaluated and reported to the court for scheduled court appearances by the PSSU case managers.

Every individual receives court reminder phone calls four days and one day prior to scheduled events.

Those who require more intensive supervision may be court ordered to electronic monitoring (See Electronic Monitoring Devices).

Eligibility

- Any individual charged with a misdemeanor or felony and has been ordered by the court to pretrial supervision.

Cost

- There is no cost for pretrial supervision; however, the individual is responsible for the cost of drug testing, treatment, or electronic monitoring fees if imposed as a condition.

ELECTRONIC MONITORING FOR PRETRIAL INDIVIDUALS

PRETRIAL
MISDEMEANORS

For more intensive monitoring, in conjunction with the Pretrial Services Supervision Unit, an individual may be court ordered to an electronic monitoring (EM) device. EM may be used to restrict or supervise an individual's location or to monitor a individual's abstinence from alcohol.

The following are types of EM devices utilized by Oakland County Pretrial & Justice Services Division when ordered by the court:

Global Positioning System (GPS)

- The individual's movements are tracked via satellites and reported at regular intervals. In the event of a violation, the individual's movement is tracked as close to real time as possible. Exclusion zones for areas such as a victim's home, work, school, or church, are programmed into a map with a predetermined radius. If the individual enters an exclusion zone, the victim and GPS staff are notified, allowing the victim to enact a safety plan. GPS may be used in, but not limited to, cases involving a victim such as Domestic Violence or Criminal Sexual Conduct.

  Requirements for GPS include:

  - A stable address
  - A standard power source
  - All EM rules and regulations of the Pretrial Services Supervision Unit are followed

- EM devices are provided through third party vendors. Devices may be installed at the vendor's location or prior to the individual being released from custody.

Transdermal Alcohol Tether

- These devices use transdermal (through the skin) analysis to determine the individual's Blood Alcohol Content (BAC). They also monitor body temperature and proximity between the leg and device which are features designed to detect attempts to tamper with or obstruct the unit.

  Requirements for transdermal include:

  - All EM rules and regulations of the Pretrial Services Supervision Unit are followed

Portable Alcohol

- This device is a portable breathalyzer which tests the individual for alcohol. The device is portable and does not require the installation of any additional hardware or software on the individual. The device may be programmed to require tests at scheduled times or randomly throughout the day. The equipment employs facial recognition technology to ensure the intended person is testing, and GPS technology which provides a location point for each test submitted.

  Requirements for Breathalyzer include:

  - All rules and regulations of the Pretrial Supervision Tether Unit are followed

Cost

- All EM options are provided by third party vendors. The costs of these systems are the responsibility of the individual per MCR 6.106. Costs will vary based on the type of EM required.

It offers an extensive array of services for individuals aimed at addressing criminogenic needs. Criminogenic needs are factors that research has shown to be associated with recidivism. The client's criminogenic needs are identified through the COMPAS, and the individual is placed in groups which address those specific needs. In addition, case managers use 'The Carey Guide' exercises with individuals to reinforce skills learned during groups. The program offers several groups during the day and evening to accommodate a variety of schedules. The program is open Monday through Friday and has two locations serving northern and southern Oakland County. The program provides the following groups/services:

- Case management services
- Men and Womens Trauma groups
- Co-occurring diagnosis group
- Substance abuse groups (Stages of Change I & II)
- Domestic violence groups (Heal/males, Weave/females, Choices, RedeeMEd, Flip the Script)

- Cognitive behavioral therapy (Thinking Matters)
- OWI III specific (REDI)
- Provides referrals to community partners for substance use disorder, mental health, job readiness, education (Oakland 80), and Transition to Success case management

ADULT TREATMENT COURT

SENTENCED
FELONY

The Oakland County Adult Treatment Court (ATC) is a court that applies alternative judicial proceedings to chemically dependent and non-violent adult felony individuals. The program aims to rehabilitate and then successfully reintegrate these individuals into the community with the goal of reducing recidivism. The program does receive grant funding and is certified through the Michigan State Court Administrative Office.

Adult felony individuals are screened for the ATC program as part of the Pre-sentence Investigation (PSI) process completed by the Michigan Department of Corrections (MDOC).

The ATC program consists of two separate tracks, one track serving participants diagnosed with only a substance use disorder (SUD), or a track that is designed for those who have a co-occurring diagnosis (SUD and a mental health disorder). Each track, while unique in their focus and approach, consists of five phases and averages 15 months in length. Each phase is designed to work in conjunction with the participant's individualized treatment plan and promote long-term, sustained recovery efforts, while still protecting the safety interests of both the individual and community. Every participant is required to submit to random drug testing in each phase in addition to other phase-specific tasks. Phase compliance is monitored by the participant's assigned MDOC Probation Agent with the participant being required to report regularly for Status Review Hearings.

Eligibility

- To participate in the program, the following eligibility criteria must be met:
  - Participants must voluntarily agree to participate in the ATC program and to abide by all program rules and conditions.

Electronic monitoring is a program funded by the Michigan Department of Corrections. Individuals under electronic monitoring supervision can be monitored for curfew (CM) or alcohol (AM).

Curfew Monitoring (CM)

- Provides the capacity to monitor when an individual enters or leaves an approved residence.
- Individuals wear an ankle bracelet device and receive 24/7/365 monitoring by MDOC Electronic Monitoring Staff.
- Probation agents establish and may change curfew hours for Individual as needed.
- Individual reports to a probation agent a minimum of two times per month.

Alcohol Monitoring (AM)

- Provides monitoring of an individual for alcohol consumption. AM consists of the following technologies:

- Individual reports to a probation agent a minimum of two times a month.
- If ordered, a period of at least 90 days of alcohol monitoring is recommended and should specify SCRAM or Remote Breath. Due to the availability of equipment, Remote Breath should only be used where SCRAM is not practicable.

Eligibility

- Individuals must be sentenced to a term of probation or delayed sentence.
- Curfew monitoring and Remote Breath operate via the 4G network, so no specific telephone or internet service is required.
